

10 SIGNS YOU'RE already AN OLD MARRIED couple

Whether you've been together forever, or just feel like you have, you might recognise a few of these...

1 You text and email each other all day long – mostly about what you're going to eat that night and whose turn it is to cook.

2 For you, #NetflixandChill actually means sitting in front of the TV together, watching Stranger Things in your pyjamas, with popcorn down your front.

3 You have so many 'in jokes' that most people have zero clue what you're laughing at half the time. "Trust us guys, we are HILARIOUS!"

4 Your partner arriving home with an M&S meal deal and a family-sized bar of Dairy Milk is the height of romance. This is the dream, people.

5 You've mastered the art of compromise and know exactly how to make sure everyone's happy – i.e. he lets you watch Love Island (without any eye rolling or sighing in the background) and you let him watch Ice Road Truckers (while you tuck into that Dairy Milk...).

6 You treat your cat/dog/*insert pet here* as though it's your first born. "OMG, did you just see what Bob did? He just did a little stretch and stuck his tongue out! He's so cute I can't cope, aren't you my little baby boo boo? Wuv you sooooo much!". No shame in it.

7 'The look'. You don't need words to communicate, you've developed a highly effective way of letting each other know exactly what you're thinking, just with your facial expressions. From the 'save me from this awkward conversation with your weird cousin, NOW!' glare to the 'OMG I can't believe we just got a free upgrade for our honeymoon!' eyebrow raise.

8 They see your real pants. No, we mean those real pants. The grey Bridget Jones pair that might have seen better days...

9 You know exactly what he's going to say at any given moment. Hell, you know what he's going to say before he knows what he's going to say.

10 There's no one else in the world you love, trust or rely on as much. You know no matter what, they've got your back. And what could be better than that?
